The award is justified, according to the association, for the Chalhoub Group's contribution to the fashion and footwear industries.

"It's an honour to receive this award, especially as it is the year of the group's 60th anniversary. Since its creation, we have acquired in-depth knowledge of the luxury retail sales market in the Middle East. We have also noticed an incredible evolution and growth in this sector and we are proud to have contributed to this expansion, in particular thanks to the Level Shoe District. I'd like to thank the Fashion Footwear Association for recognising our efforts in this regard," said Patrick Chalhoub in his speech that followed the presentation of the award.

Ron Fromm, CEO of the FFANY, also thanked the group for its commitment in the fight against breast cancer and for its actions towards sustainable development.
